

Residential Security Education Program from The Equalizer System of Personal Safety WWW.EQUALIZERSAFETY.COM

“PREPARED IN ADVANCE”

Every year, millions of people are victimized by property crime. Everyone should know how to recognize and reduce their risk of becoming a victim. Everyone should be “Prepared in Advance”.

OUR GOAL

The goal of this program is to educate men, women, and teenagers about how to recognize and reduce their risk of becoming victims of property crime.

RESIDENTIAL SECURITY TRAIN THE TRAINER COURSE

Elements of this course include:

1. Training and Certification as a “Residential Security Coach”. This four-hour course, which includes a written examination, qualifies participants to present the Equalizer Materials to different groups. A PowerPoint Presentation, Residential Security Coach Manual, and a Certificate of Completion are included with Certification. This certification is available to law enforcement, education, health, and business professionals as well as state and local government employees.
2. The Student Guide, “A Guide To Residential Security”. This is a 34-page guide which shares vital information concerning property crime including: understanding burglary, burglary tactics, burglary tools, home invasion, property crime avoidance principles, perimeter security, lighting, surveillance, key security, exterior door security, window security, burglar alarms, children and residential security, a safe room, security while away, access while away, suspicious activity and objects, what to do if one is victimized by property crime and victim’s rights. Written for men, women and teenagers, this guide contains a written exam and security check-list in the back.
